

PTSD Curse Breaking Prayer

"Heavenly Father, in the name of Jesus, I am truly Your child. I have been purchased by the Blood of Jesus. I belong to You, I do not belong to the devil, my enemy. The enemy has no right to me and no power over me because of the precious Blood of Jesus. Father, You have known my sins. I confess them all. I repent of all of them now. I ask You to forgive me. Forgive me of every sin and remove the stains from my heart and from my life, for Your Word tells me that when I confess my sins, You will forgive me and will cleanse me of all unrighteousness. I confess those sins to You that the power of the curse might be broken through the shed Blood of Jesus - Blood that was also shed for me.

I reject and remove the curses of Post Traumatic Stress Disorder and the label that comes with it, whether by well-intentioned medical practitioners, or others. I remove the mind-blocking spirits and spirits of avoidance, in the name of Jesus, and I put the Blood and the Cross of Jesus Christ between me and them. I rebuke the lie that anything that happened during my military service was 'my fault', and state and believe that my service was well-intentioned. For the things I did wrong and where I committed sin during my service, I repent to You Father God, and I ask you to forgive me. I thank You for forgiving me Father! I ask you to restore to me my sense of belonging to You first of all because of Jesus the Christ, with the Holy Spirit filling me to overflowing with the Love of God, angel armies working on my behalf, and to my family, friends, and others You are bringing into my life. I refuse and resist the spirit of hopelessness. I rebuke and renounce it in Jesus' name. I ask you for your love, compassion, passion and caring for myself and all others in my life. I receive your gift of forgiveness, love, restoration and hope. I ask You, King Jesus, to place Your Blood on my memories, cleansing my memories, forgiving me, and renewing my mind as Your Word says You will do as I declare Your Word out loud, believing in my heart the Truth You give! I believe You and receive from Your hand a spirit of Power, Love and a Sound Mind in Jesus' Name.

I take back all ground I ever yielded to the devil and establish my faith in the Lord Jesus and I claim the blessing rather than the curse. I believe in Your power through the Holy Spirit, Lord Jesus. I believe in Your redemption for me. I believe in my heart, and declare with my mouth that You are my Savior - You are my Deliverer.

"Father, I now open myself to receive Your blessings in every way You want to impart them to me. In Jesus' Name, Amen."
